Activity 6: Mental-Wellbeing Policy-to-Practice Playbook

Course C1158 · LO2

Objective

Translate policy into safe day-to-day manager and team practices

Documented real-event basis

Singapore's tripartite guidance encourages employers to strengthen mental wellbeing through organisation-, team- and individual-level practices, including leadership, supportive managers, work-life harmony, access to help and appropriate confidentiality.

Scenario

EastLine Distribution, a fictional employer, has a two-page wellbeing policy but inconsistent practice. One manager demands clinical details, another ignores repeated overtime, and employees do not understand when HR or emergency support becomes involved.

Training assumptions

• All characters and events are fictional learning scenarios.

• Managers are not clinicians and must not diagnose or provide therapy.

• The organisation has HR, an EAP and a documented emergency escalation route.

• Work adjustments depend on role and risk but should use only necessary information.

Questions

1. Which policy statements need a concrete routine, tool or decision right?

2. What can managers ask, record, decide and escalate?

3. How should the playbook handle immediate safety concerns and ordinary work support differently?

4. What evidence demonstrates implementation beyond attendance at training?

Expected output

Policy-to-practice manager playbook and implementation evidence plan

Acceptance test

The playbook covers routine through emergency situations, limits collection and diagnosis, names decision rights and handoffs, provides usable scripts and defines evidence of practice quality rather than training completion alone.
